

Moorabool Community Resilience Project

What is it about?

The Moorabool Community Resilience Project aims to strengthen the capacity and capability of communities impacted by the October 2022 flood event by supporting them to plan for and lead their own recovery and build resilience.

Working with established community groups, organisations, and the impacted communities of Myrning, Gordon/Mount Egerton, and Morrisons/Lal Lal/Elaine and their surrounding areas we aim to work with each community to identify projects, initiatives and activities to help build their recovery and resilience for past, present and future emergency events.

What does 'resilience' mean?

Resilience refers to the ability to recover from, or adapt to, unplanned change. To build resilience often means to develop plans and skills to be better prepared and ready for change.

How can I be involved?

The Moorabool Community Resilience Project aims to be led by the community to ensure that the project reflects their experiences and expectations of those impacted by the floods.

There will also be many opportunities throughout the project for the community to provide input, ideas and suggestions as to the projects, initiative and activities that will help build their recovery and resilience. Promotion of these opportunities will occur through community newsletters, posters and social media.

Project timeline

- 1 Initial engagement with the communities and key stakeholders of Myrning, Gordon/Mount Egerton, and Morrisons/Lal Lal/Elaine and surrounding areas
March 2024
- 2 Conversations and events held with each community to identify potential resilience projects, initiatives, or activities
April - June 2024
- 3 Consolidation of input, ideas, and suggestions received from the community
July 2024
- 4 Launch and delivery of community resilience projects, initiatives, and activities
August - November 2024

Project timelines may change due to unforeseen circumstances. Up to date project timelines can be viewed online via the QR code.

For any enquiries please contact the Moorabool Shire Council Emergency Management Team on (03) 5366 7100.

The Moorabool Community Resilience Project is made possible through funding by Emergency Recovery Victoria and Moorabool Shire Council.

